Diabetes on the Internet
Resources available from Health Information Resources (formerly National Library for Health) and elsewhere

NHS Choices—Diabetes, type 2
http://www.nhs.uk/conditions/Diabetes-type2/Pages/Introduction.aspx
Includes a self-assessment test. Also gives links to Type 1 diabetes and Diabetic retinopathy.

NHS Clinical Knowledge Summaries (CKS)
http://www.cks.nhs.uk/home
Click on Endocrine and Metabolic on the left-hand side, then on the right, click on Diabetes type 2 (Type 1 is not yet available).

NHS Evidence - diabetes specialist collection
http://www.library.nhs.uk/diabetes/
NHS Evidence - diabetes is a unique resource aimed at supporting healthcare professionals by providing high quality information on all aspects of diabetes including both clinical and organisational issues. It also has a mailing list to which you can subscribe for updating purposes, or you can use an RSS feed.

Diabetes UK
http://www.diabetes.org.uk/
The largest organisation in the UK working for people with diabetes, funding research, campaigning and helping people live with the condition. It has a section for professionals.
Resources available through the Internet

Department of Health Cancer Page
Includes links to Cancer Reform Strategy, Manual for Cancer Services 2004, and other key information

NLH/ For Patients http://www.library.nhs.uk/forpatients/
These resources are selected for their value to patients and non-clinicians. On this page is a link to the NHS Direct Online Health Encyclopaedia, everything about conditions, tests, treatments, operations and services. Click on Cancer and it will break down into cancers of various sites.

Cancer Research UK http://www.cancerresearchuk.org/
This organisation does research and also provides an information service called CancerHelpUK

Cancerback http://www.cancerbackup.org.uk/Home/
A cancer information service with over 6,500 pages of up-to-date cancer information, practical advice and support for cancer patients, their families and carers

Intute: Health and life sciences http://www.intute.ac.uk/healthandlifesciences/
Further already evaluated websites can be found by searching Intute: Health and life sciences.