

Celebrating diversity... video transcript

Staff holding up whiteboards:

Proud to be of colour.

I am proud of being a Yorkshire woman.

I am a proud mum.

I am a proud Muslim.

I am proud of my heritage – buddha and mount Everest.

I am proud to be a Christian!

I am a passionate Christian.

I am a doctor. British. I am an immigrant.

I'm white and I'm British.

I have suffered from anxiety.

I have a physical health problem but it doesn't mean I can't do what I want to do!

I believe anything goes be who you want to be.

My parents are migrants.

I am a working mother of 5 I've heard it all before!

I am a catholic gay woman.

I am the daughter of a refugee.

I am an EU citizen (and an immigrant).

I'm Welsh.

I am a carer for a family member with mental illness.

I have anxiety and low self esteem.

I am a working single mum.

I battle long term depression.

I am gay.

I was the first person in my family to go to university.

I am a survivor #BreastCancer

I am a carer for 2 people.

I am the only female on my work's football team.

I was an asylum seeker.

I get anxious about confrontation.

I am the first BME president for my national professional body.

I battle long term depression.

Whiteboards all flip to say:

We are the NHS.